Lake Tahoe a Great Spot for an Autumn Adventure

In This Issue

Best Places for an Autumn Adventure in Tahoe

Show Details

There are few places that rival the chromatic beauty and temperate climate of Lake Tahoe in autumn. The days are still warm, yet the air feels brisk and lively as the occasional crisp breeze whips through the trees, rustling their burnt orange and scarlet-hued leaves. The dog days of summer are behind us, and for RVers that's invigorating, energizing--the weather's perfect, the scenery's breathtaking and the road is beckoning. And Lake Tahoe doesn't disappoint. The area's geography offers myriad options for the autumn adventurer and a diversity of experiences to choose from.

Whether it's the reflection of the leaves on the lake that lure you away from home, or the fanciful turrets of an 11th-century Viking castle, Tahoe has something for every RVer.

Before heading off into the sunset--and Tahoe has some pretty ones--visit our 16th Annual Northern California Fall RV Show and

Sale which will return to the Alameda County Fairgrounds Sept. 24 through Oct. 3. Outfit your rig with the latest and greatest, then scratch that itch for adventure. RVers are a notoriously itchy bunch, aren't we?

Happy RVing!

Best Places for an Autumn Adventure in Tahoe

1) Tahoe has some of the best RV camping around. Explore your options here. And if gorging on hot dogs and smores isn't your idea of a great camping trip (or if it is, and you need to work off those extra calories), check out the 165 miles of trails to hike at Lake Tahoe. Whether it's through the mountains or around the lake, the weather's sure to be beautiful and the surroundings amazing.

2) Maybe you've OD'd on natural beauty and are looking for something of the man-made variety. How about a replica of an 11th-century Viking castle, which sits on the shores of Emerald Bay with views of the lake (OK, there's a little natural beauty in there). Learn more about Vikingsholm, then check it out for yourself.

3) If you're like many of the people in my family, a trip wouldn't be successful if you didn't come home with something to remember it by. Whether it's a velvet Elvis to spruce up the RV or something a bit more, um, refined, Tahoe boasts a smorgasbord of art galleries that fit everyone's tastes.

4) Roasting weenies over a campfire ain't the only way to eat in the woods. Tahoe has some great places to dine that run the price gamut.

5) Tahoe isn't renowned for it's vino like Napa or Sonoma, but there are some nice tours around El Dorado County (self-proclaimed "original wine country of California") for any oenophiles that need a quick fix. This tour gives folks a detailed narration of the rich history and geography of the historic county, as well.
